

Exeter Drama Company BOOKING FORM

September 2020

Dear Friends

After months of dramatic inactivity in person - we're back! Hopefully you've enjoyed our lockdown radio playlets but now we're bringing you our first ever open air production with Shakespeare at a Distance. This is being remotely directed for us by Kirsten Lees and Malcolme Littler and will take place on the afternoon and early evening of Sat 26th & Sun 27th September at 2pm and 5pm - please see attached for directions and social distancing information.

Shakespeare at a Distance has been put together as a series of monologues and duologues by individuals rehearsing via zoom or in socially distanced gardens and parks. We'll give you comedy and tragedy with snippets from Macbeth, Romeo and Juliet, As You Like It and A Midsummer Night's Dream to name but a few. And all performed within Exeter Community Garden on the edge of the University.

Why on earth would you want to miss our first foray into the open air?!! We look forward to welcoming you once again, after so long, so please use and return the booking slip below.
